

Recurrent fever

Nidhi Shah

My daughter has been having fever at almost regular interval of 3 to 4 months and her body temperature would reach 103 F to 104 F. This was almost 3 to 4 years back and then we came to Dr. Mehra for the treatment. It was in the year 2005 that we came to him. Firstly the fever used to last minimum of 2 days but as days passed and the treatment continued the interval between the fever reduced to almost 6 months and the duration also reduced to almost 1 day. The last time she got fever was on 29th March and before that it was in July 2006. So this is quite a positive experience for us.

The telephone service was also quite useful as I did not have to come regularly and the updates taken by Dr. through telephone is also quite convenient. I am quite thankful to Dr. Mehra for his support.

Usha Shah.

(Mother of Nidhi Shah)

3/4/2008