My daughter, Priyangi, is 1.5 yrs old. She is a very active and healthy child. Since birth I never faced any serious illness or common cold as long as my daughter is concerned.

In the span of 1.5 yrs, ~~for~~ Priyangi was unwell ~~on~~ 3-4 times, mild fever and cold.

I always follow homeopathy treatment. Only this time, we were out of station and Priyangi got very high fever during our trip. I was worried. Though I had started giving her homeopathy medicine, I later decided to do an antibiotic course. And that was a wrong decision. Generally, fever cough subsides in few days. The antibiotic did subside the fever but left a very bad, intense cough. Each time she coughed, it was so intense that all her food from inside used to flow out. It was a very sad situation. After a day, I started to search for a Homeopathy doctor near my place. Thank God I found Dr. Mehra. He is a very dedicated doctor. He listened to my problem and medicated. ~~my~~ I followed his instructions and after 2-3 doses of the medicine, Priyangi started to response. Today after a week's time she is fit and fine. It's a myth that homeopathy is slow. If your body is treated less with antibiotics, it is the best medicine, with no side effects.
